

Radioactive waste:

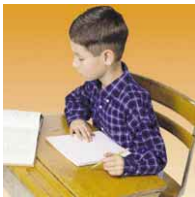

Stopping higher-level nuclear waste from being dumped in Utah through new legislation intended to be "the most effective and permanent solution."

Politics: Raising salaries of state workers, implementing an ethics-reform package for the executive branch including a mandatory "cooling-off" period for appointed officials before they can become lobbyists.

Economy: Creating an "environment of opportunity," with a modernized, business-friendly tax policy to encourage new and existing businesses to invest in the state.

Education: Boosting teacher salaries and spending for classroom supplies, while supporting school choice and encouraging more volunteer involvement by parents and others.