

Poverty amid a wealth of resources

The country's largest Indian tribe, the Navajo Nation, is also one of its poorest. The tribe says the Interior Department hasn't properly compensated it for oil and gas production on its land.

